

Prof. Dr. med. Günter Siegel

Institute of Physiology
Charité – University Clinic Berlin (CCO)
Charitéplatz 1
D-10117 Berlin, Germany
☎ 0049-30-450528521

Curriculum vitae

- 1942 born on 10th May in Zwickau/Saxonia
- 1948-1952 Elementary school in Sibratshofen, Allgäu/Bavaria
- 1952-1961 Grammar school in Kempten/Allgäu, Bavaria
- 1961-1968 Studies of Physics and Medicine, Bavaria Institute of Technology, Munich; Ruprecht-Karl-University of Heidelberg; Ludwig-Maximilians-University of Munich
- 1968 State examination, University of Heidelberg
- 1969 Doctor of Medicine at the University of Heidelberg
- Award of the Carl Friedrich Prize Medal of the Ruprecht-Karl-University of Heidelberg
- 1970 Habilitation in Physiology, Medical Faculty of the Freie Universität Berlin
- Appointment as Professor
- Since 1975 Liaison professor and member of the selection committee of the German Academic Scholarship Foundation
- 1976 Sabbatical at the Lund Institute of Technology, Chemical Center, Department of Physical Chemistry (Prof. Dr. B. Lindman, Prof. Dr. S. Forsén)
- 1978 Licence to practice as medical doctor
- 1980-1985 Director of the Department of Physiology, Medical Faculty of the Freie Universität Berlin
- 1984 Award of the Max Ratschow prize by the German Society of Angiology
- 1994 Certificate of Honour, 2nd International Congress of Pathophysiology, Kyoto, Japan
- 1996-1998 President of the German Arteriosclerosis Society
- 1998-2000 Vice-President of the German Arteriosclerosis Society

Since 1999	Board Member of the Berlin-Brandenburg Society of Cardiologists
2000-2007	Director of the Department of Neurophysiology, Charité – University Clinic Berlin
2001	Award of the “Golden Frankie” for the best lecture in the preclinical part of medical studies
2004	Award of the Rudolf Schönheimer Medal by the German Arteriosclerosis Society
2004-2017	Vice President of the Buddecke Foundation
Since 2005	Member of the Editorial Board of “Biosensors and Bioelectronics”
2006-2012	Vice Chairman of the Board of the Berlin-Brandenburg Society of Cardiologists
2008-2010	Associate Director of the Institute of Physiology, Charité – University Clinic Berlin
Since 2008	Guest Professorship at Uppsala University Biomedical Center, Sweden
Since 2014	Visiting Professorship at St. George’s University School of Arts & Sciences, Grenada, West Indies

Prof. Dr. med. Günter Siegel